

KYLE MACINTYRE SPECIALIST SAFARI GUIDE – NATURAL SELECTION

Operates anywhere in Botswana

Kyle has a unique perspective when taking families on safari as he grew up in Maun and the Okavango Delta. Both his parents are also guides, his mother Karen in fact one of the first licensed female guides on the continent while his father co-founded Wilderness Safaris in 1983. Always active, Kyle climbed Kilimanjaro at the age of 11, and recently played for the national rugby team of Botswana.

Kyle is qualified as a guide for armed walking, cycling, boat, and kayaking safaris and enjoys making everyone's safari a completely rounded experience.

His eagerness to explore continued with his father Chris. Together they pioneered unique cycle trips following century old elephant trails. They have also undertaken kayak expeditions through the Okavango, including the first descent of the Savuti River from source.

In 2020 Kyle embarked for charity on a 1500km 50-day horse expedition from the Okavango to the Chobe River and circumnavigated the Makgadikgadi Salt Pans following the Boteti River back up to Maun.

Kyle's divides his time between marketing and guiding and has a special affinity for family groups and kids sharing and teaching his world in an out of the ordinary attention to detail.
